

ABSTRACT

Fading of synthetically colored beverages is prevented using botanically derived color stabilizers which are C₆-C₃ phenylpropenoic carbonyl compounds which contain both (i) unsaturation and (ii) oxidation at a carbon atom.